

UPCHURCH

Upchurch's homecoming started off with a "real great" parade Friday, October 16, only to end in the game being postponed.

The parade was led by Mr. G. A. Page, principal of Upchurch, with Miss Homecoming and her attendants following close behind. Some of the other features of the parade were: The famous Upchurch High School Marching Band, Boy Scout troops, floats of various kinds, bicycle riders, majorettes, and high steppers.

There were participants from Upchurch's primary, elementary, and high school departments, Burlington School and West Hoke School. All combined to make the parade a success. Last but not least, the cheerleaders brought the crowd shouting and cheering down to the Raeford Stadium where they stood in the rain waiting for the game to begin. But all the excitement was in vain because Upchurch's opponents, Carver High School of Mount Olive, were unable to make the trip due to their bus breaking down. However, we are expecting just as large a crowd if not larger Friday night, October 30, when the Upchurch Eagles play I. E. Johnson of Laurinburg, N. C. We'll be looking for you then.

The Upchurch High School band has been very active this season and have many more engagements in front of them. They were featured in the Homecoming parade Friday, October 16. They will be participating Wednesday, October 21, for the well-noted Fall Festival in Red Springs. They will also be highlighted in the annual Sanford Christmas parade which will be held in Carthage December 3.

Local Student Can Choose From 16 Schools In Area

When Sandhills Community College at Southern Pines is opened next fall, there will be 16 school and colleges within commuting distance of Raeford at which high school graduates can continue their education at moderate cost.

Miss Josephine Hall, Hoke home agent, told her club women recently that it is now high time a high school senior is making up his mind where he will enter school next year. Many college applicants today are being turned down by the school of their choice because they waited until late spring to apply.

Practically every school of higher learning is forced to turn down applications each year because its quota is filled early.

Young people of Raeford and vicinity are fortunate to have such a large number of higher education facilities within their reach. Students in some counties of North Carolina are not fortunate enough to have a single school, beyond high school level, to which they can drive to and from home daily.

The result is that the majority of teen-agers in these areas are going to work without any technical specialized or professional training because they cannot afford to attend boarding schools.

Schools near Raeford and some of their qualifications and requirements are:

Carolina Military Academy (Maxton) -- Campus comprises 67 acres. Classes are small and individual help is available. This is a preparatory school and good for those not quite ready for college. Tuition is $1,650. Uniforms, $230.

Fayetteville Beauty College

-- Will accept students between ages of 16 and 31. The curriculum covers such subjects as facials, hair styling, hair tinting and bleaching, permanent waving, sanitation, shampooing, scalp and hair treatments, manicuring, salesmanship, shop management and instructor training.

Fayetteville Teachers College -- Accredited by N. C. Department of Public Instruction, Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education. Total yearly fees: boarding students, $700; non-boarders, $231.

Fayetteville Technical Institute -- a co-educational institution open to any individual who meets the admission requirements for the particular course he chooses to follow.

Applicants must be high school graduates or equivalent. Tuition is $30 per quarter. Cost of books averages $30 per quarter, exclusive of certain pieces of equipment.

Courses taught are, accounting, air conditioning and refrigeration technology, agricultural business technology, business administration, civil engineering technology, engineering and technical secretary, electronics, engineering technology, mechanical engineering technology, sanitary engineering technology, air conditioning and refrigeration trade curriculum, automotive mechanics, machine shop trade, practical nurse education, radio and television servicing, and welding.

Fort Bragg -- Plans for offering a bachelor's degree at the world's largest military base were announced during the summer of 1964. The four-year degree program was inaugurated in the fall of 1964.

Majors in sociology, political science and history are being offered at the present time. Regular tuition fees are charged. Dr. Horace D. Rawls is director.

School of Nursing -- (Highsmith Memorial, Fayetteville) Fees for tuition are: $400, first year; $300, second year; $150, third year.

Lee County Industrial Education Center -- (Sanford) Offers 13 courses in general education; 12 technical courses; 11 courses in trade occupations, 1 practical nurse education course. Evening classes also.

Methodist College (Fayetteville) -- Liberal arts college. Boarding student tuition, $650 per semester. Day students expenses per semester, $312. Scholarships, loans and self help employment are available.

Pembroke State College -- Accredited state-supported liberal arts college maintaining a four-year curriculum leading to the B.A. and B.S. degrees. Tuition, $306.50 per semester for boarding students. Tuition for day students, $86.50 per semester.

Sandhills Community College -- Will offer first two years of standard college work leading to transfer to senior colleges. Will also offer programs in occupational education; examples: nurse training leading to the R. N. certificate; two year business education, clerical work, business administration, accounting; civil engineering technology leading to highly skilled work in construction or sanitation.

All students will be day students. Tuition, $120 per academic year.

Sanford Business College -- Day classes, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 1:15 p.m. Tuition $45 per month or $125 per quarter. Night school tuition is $20 per month or $55 per quarter.

St. Andrews Presbyterian College (Laurinburg) -- Liberal arts college, co-educational. The total basic fee for a resident student is $1,435. For those interested in entering as day students, tuition is $725 plus a general service fee of $85.

Selenia Commercial College (Lumberton) -- Special courses and tuition are: Speedwriting shorthand, $150 for 100 hours of instruction; typing, $50; all other special subjects, $45 per subject.

School of Nursing, Southeastern General Hospital (Lumberton) -- Nursing students admitted the first Monday in September each year. Minimum age, 17. Cost of course for three year diploma program: $175, first year; plus room and board, $270. Second year, $100; third year, $100. Total, $645.

Vardell Hall (Red Springs) Junior college and preparatory school for young women. Liberal arts course is parallel to that of senior colleges and is designed for students who plan to continue their study in a senior college or university. Yearly fee for boarding students is $2,100. Fee for day student is $750 per year.

Worth Business College (Fayetteville) -- Offers typing and speedwriting or Gregg shorthand, office machine.

60 Hoke Negroes Ask For School Transfers

Deadline To Apply Is Friday

A total of 54 Negro students have applied for admission to previously all-white schools, except one school, and six others have asked for assignment to Hawk Eye School, the county's school for Indians.

The requests for assignment came as a result of inquiries made by the board of education, which this year adopted a "freedom of choice" policy in assigning students to all county schools.

Cards were mailed to parents of every school-age child in the county asking them to indicate which schools they preferred their children to attend.

W. T. Gibson, superintendent of schools, said at least 95 per cent of the cards have been returned. Tomorrow is the deadline for indicating a preference, he said, after which children who have indicated no preference are supposed to be assigned to the school nearest their home.

Gibson said 30 students at Upchurch High School have asked to be transferred to previously all-white Hoke County High School. Another nine Negro students gave Raeford Elementary School as their first choice and 15 Negro students applied for admission to J. W. McLaughlin School, which last year had one Negro student.

Several other students who at first indicated they wished to be transferred to previously all-white schools changed their minds and chose to remain in all-Negro schools, Gibson said.

Three of the students were from Upchurch High School.

Assignment of all students in the county is made by the county board of education, which is expected to hold a special session next week to make assignments.

"Assignment will have to be made before the end of the current school year," Gibson said, "because we indicate on the student's report card the school he is to attend next year."

The board of education adopted the "freedom of choice" policy to bring the county into compliance with the Civil Rights Act. School units which do not comply with the laws regarding desegregation are liable to lose federal funds.

Federal money was not the prime consideration, however, according to school officials here. Schools are compelled to comply with the Civil Rights Act even if they choose not to accept federal funds.

The local plan for desegregation, published in its entirety in last week's News-Journal, stipulates that students will be assigned to the school of their choice so long as there is room for them at that school.

In the event the school is overcrowded, all students at the school would then be assigned without regard to race, creed or national origin according to the student's proximity to the school, the plan stipulates.

Previously, only two children have attended other than totally segregated schools here. In addition to the Negro first grader admitted last fall to J. W. McLaughlin School, a white student was permitted to attend Hawk Eye last fall.

Hoke Buses Have Lowest Cost Per Mi.

In a recent compilation of transportation data in the counties of North Carolina published by the State Board of Education Hoke was shown to have the lowest school bus operating cost per mile in the state during the past eight years.

Cost per mile in Hoke during this period was 8.736 cents, as compared to the state average cost per mile of 11.415 cents and to the highest, Mecklenburg County, of 13.568 cents per mile.

Hoke County operates 45 buses, compared to the state average of 87, an average of 52.7 miles per bus daily, compared to the state average of 36.9 miles daily.

School bus maintenance personnel in Hoke County are L. E. Luck, chief mechanic, W. B. Lunsford, mechanic, Robert Blue, gas man, and N. B. Blue, property and cost clerk.

Absentees Are Fewer In Schools

School attendance in Hoke County is up by as much as 5 per cent in some schools since the county employed a full-time attendance counselor, the school board was told Tuesday night.

E. G. Inman, the counselor, told the board he has encountered 163 unexcused absences since he began his duties at the beginning of the school year. Nineteen of those cases resulted in court action, he said.

"Most of the cases were handled in jaypee court," he said, "and the parents were taxed with court costs. Several cases were heard in Juvenile Court and one youngster was sent to training school."

Inman said 133 of the cases involved Negro students and another 30 involved Indians.

"I encountered several cases of youngsters less than 16 years of age working when they should have been in school," he said. "Most of the parents involved claimed they could not afford to send their children to school because they had nothing to pack for lunch and no money to provide lunches in the school cafeterias. Some said they did not have shoes for their children."

When faced with the alternatives of either sending their children to school or facing court action, most of them found a means to send the youngsters to school, Inman said.

Bucks Trample Rockingham For Fourth Win

Gilbert McGregor Scores 31 Points

Four Hoke High School cagers scored in double figures Friday night as the Bucks drove to their fourth straight triumph, 86-66, over Hamlet, a Southeastern 3-A Conference foe.

Paced by Gilber McGregor, who netted 31 points, the Bucks sprang to an early lead and were never headed. At the end of the first quarter, Raeford was ahead, 18-11, and by half-time the lead had been stretched to 19 points, 40-21.

Gary Ashburn topped the 20-point mark for the first time this season, bucketing 21 points in the walkaway. Mack Koonce and J. W. Canady scored 12 points apiece, while Bill Senter accounted for six and Mike McAnulty dropped in two markers.

Raeford girls continued their winning ways in the opener, turning their fifth victory of the season, 38-27, to remain defeated.

Alice Davis scored 21 points for the winners, while Susan Howard accounted for 11, Winborne Howell got five, and Delrose Morrison tallied one point.

The Bucks are 3-0 in conference and share the conference lead with undefeated Clinton, which Sunday was rated the number one 3-A team in Eastern North Carolina in the weekly Raleigh News & Observer rankings.

McGregor, the Bucks' 6-6 center, reached a new pinnacle in topping the 30-point mark and boosted his season average to better than 24 points a game. His previous high was 26 points, scored in a losing cause against Seventy-First in the initial game of the season. The Bucks were beaten in that one by a single point when Seventy-First scored at the final buzzer.

McGregor has now tallied 122 points in five games, an average of 24.4 points a game, and has played magnificently on defense. Most of his points have been scored on follow-ups and tip-ins.

Coach Don Prince sent a total of 15 men into the game Friday night, a new high for the Bucks.

Raeford is rated ninth in the News & Observer rankings, while Lumberton was given fifth place on the basis of its 3-1 record. Those two teams and Clinton are the only Southeastern 3-A teams included in the list of 10 teams.

The Bucks will be idle until after the Christmas holidays.

AFTER WE LEFT HIGH SCHOOL

March 17, 1966

We congratulate the Hoke High Buck basketball team this week on the outstanding play it showed in the State 3-A Basketball Tournament in Durham. We commend the team on both being the number two team in the state and for the way in which it won the title.

On Wednesday night, the Bucks had a close call before pulling away from Reidsville. Winning this game put Raeford in the semifinal round on Friday night. Our opponent was Orange High School of Hillsborough. The Bucks overcame a nine point lead by Orange to beat the team, 63-45.

Raefordites turned out by hundreds at the championship game on Saturday night. Morehead High, with a record of 25 and 0, was Raeford's opponent. The game was close throughout and at the final buzzer Morehead was on top, 82-79.

Raeford's junior star, Gilbert McGregor, was high scorer in all three games for Raeford. His best effort was 31 points against Morehead.

Closing out their basketball careers were eight seniors. They are Gary Ashburn, Bunk Canaday, Mack Koonce, Mike McAnulty, William McAllister, Benny Harward, Roger Scott and Tommy Roberts. Other members of the team are Zan Monroe, Gilbert McGregor, Jimmy McPhaul, Bobby Dew, Horace McAllister, J. D. Black, John Reid Davis, Ronnie Morrison, and Bill Senter.

The town of Raeford has never seen a more superb group of boys composing a more superb basketball team. This team far surpassed any other team in Hoke High's history. In addition to the team members, much credit is due to Coach Don Prince, who is coaching his first year in Raeford. We could not have a more admirable gentlemen leading our cagers. Another hard working person with the team is Leslie Frahm, our capable manager. Mr.

Charlie Hottel is also thanked for transporting the Bucks on the bus throughout the season.

The cheerleaders and team wish to thank the people of Raeford for supporting the champion Bucks in a sportsmanship manner during the season.

Cheerleaders Gwen McNeill, Carolyn Culbreth, Margie Tyler, Kathy Ashley, Lynn McNeill, and Kathy Huckabee spent Friday night in Durham. The group was chaperoned by Mrs. Don Prince, cheerleaders sponsor, and Mrs. Barbara Miller.

Marie McLaughlin spent the week end with relatives in Statesville.

William Lee and Ronnie Prince spent the week end in Durham.

Hoke High's school spirit has been boosted this year by its pep band which has performed at pep rallies and ballgames. Leader of the group is band president Billy Gilmore. Others are Jimmy Pittman, Pete Hales, Ralph Huff, Wilton Currie, and John D. McAllister.

The spring rally of Fayetteville Presbytery will be held Sunday afternoon at St. Andrews Presbyterian College in Laurinburg. Registration is 3 to 3:30. The program will be from 3:30 to 6 o'clock. Every senior high young person is urged to attend.

Members of the Hoke High Key Club will attend the Key Club convention in Columbia, S. C. this week end.

The Hoke High Band will be in concert tomorrow night at eight o'clock in Raeford Elementary School auditorium. Student tickets are 25 cents each.

HEAD START -- A vital part in the training of pre-school children is teaching them to overcome their inherent shyness and to associate with each other. This theory is applied by teachers in the Head Start program for impoverished pre-school youngsters in Hoke County, and the above photo show some of the youngsters playing "Ring Around Rosie" at Upchurch High School. Some 300 Hoke youngsters are attending the classes now in progress at six county schools. The federal government is paying for the program from funds provided by the Economic Opportunity Act.

FOR USE IN FIVE NON-WHITE SCHOOLS

Hoke Receives $419,230 In Federal Aid

A $419,230.08 grant in federal funds has been tentatively approved for Hoke County schools, it was announced this week.

The funds, made available through the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, must be used in schools in which at least 50 per cent of the students come from poverty-stricken homes.

The federal government defines as "poverty-stricken" any family whose annual income is less than $2,000.

J. D. McAllister, principal at Scurlock Elementary School, has been named by the board of education to direct the program here.

F. W. Caldwell Jr., an eighth grade teacher at Scurlock, has been named interim principal there to succeed McAllister.

Only five schools in the county qualify for benefits under the program, which is administered locally but springs from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington.

The five schools are Upchurch, Burlington, West Hoke, Scurlock and Hawk Eye, all of which are predominantly non-white. In fact, with one or two possible exceptions, four of the schools are all-Negro and Hawk Eye is predominantly Indian.

McAllister said Wednesday the program here will affect 3,259 students at all grade levels. Of that number, 2,649 come from deprived homes.

The local program will be primarily a language arts improvement program, McAllister said. Secondary benefits would be health, recreational and cultural programs.

Individual students will be eligible on the basis of personal need for certain health benefits, including medical care, clothing and free lunches, McAllister said.

The entire student bodies of the schools will benefit, of course, from the improved courses in reading, writing and other communicative skills.

The local program was drafted by principal of the five schools, in close cooperation with their faculties. It was approved locally by the Hoke County Board of Education and subsequently was approved in Raleigh and Washington.

McAllister said the program already has been put into effect here, but will not be noticed in the classrooms, generally, until the administrative procedures have been perfected.

McAllister has been assigned office space in the board of education building, from which he will supervise all phases of the long-range program, which will depend upon annual allocations by Congress.

A total of 45 teacher aides are being hired to assist classroom instructors mostly in the primary grades. Their duties will be largely clerical and other non-teaching functions.

To date, McAllister's offices have received "more than enough applications. All teacher aide positions have been substantially filled or applied for, McAllister said.

Music, art and library personnel is being sought, McAllister said, to work with that portion of the program. Certified personnel is required, he said.

Only McAllister, a secretary and a bookkeeper will be required for the central administrative office. The program will be supervised at the school level by the principals of the respective schools.

In addition to the 2,649 students from deprived homes attending the five affected schools, another 175 deprived students were uncovered in non-participating schools by the economic survey preceding the drafting of the local program, McAllister said.

Those schools are not eligible for the federal assistance, however, since their "poverty-stricken" population is far below 50 per cent.

UPCHURCH

A professional meeting of homemaking teachers from District III and III A held their monthly meeting at Upchurch School, Thursday, October 17. The area home economics supervisor, Mrs. A. White, was the guest speaker. She spoke on "Recent happenings In Home Economics."

The student council representatives, Henry McKoy, Dorothy McGregor, George Davis, Washington McAllister, Vinez Singletary and the advisor Mrs. Solomon, attended the district student council meeting at Hallsboro on October 18.

The Choral Club under the direction of Miss Croft will present a program of songs to the patients of the Sanatorium at McCain on October 24.

The regular monthly P. T. A. meeting will be held on Monday, October 28 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. President Willie McKinnon will preside. There will be several discussions. Professional persons will serve as consultants. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. During all of next week parents, students, and teachers will make every effort to get all children in school or find out why they (the children) are not in school.

We were sorry to learn of the passing of Mrs. G. K. McDowell's brother, who lived in Charlotte. Mrs. McDowell is our seventh grade teacher.

Seven world famous singing groups will appear in the Auditorium, Sunday, October 27th, 8 p.m. They are:

Spirit of Memphis, Memphis, Tenn.; Angelic Gospel Singers, Philadelphia, Pa.; Jimmy Jones and the Sensationals, New York City; Gospel Consolers, Miami, Fla.; Gospel Consolators, Pasadena, Calif.; The Dayettes, Jamaica, N. Y.; Tommy Ellison and the Five Singing Stars, Brooklyn, N. Y.

69 STUDENTS ASK TRANSFERS

Hoke Schools Face Integration Next Fall

Hoke County Schools apparently will be rather thoroughly integrated next fall.

A total of 60 Negroes have applied for admission to previously all-white schools (with one exception) and six others have asked for assignment to Hawk Eye School, previously attended, with one exception, only by Indians.

At the same time, three Indians have asked that they be assigned to previously all-white schools -- one to each of the three schools in Raeford.

W. T. Gibson Jr., superintendent, said earlier this week the requests were returned to his office as the result of inquiries made by the board of education in connection with the board's "freedom of choice" policy to desegregate its schools.

Parents were asked to fill out and return blanks indicating which schools they wanted their children to attend. They also were asked to specify a second choice.

Last Friday was the deadline for returning the applications, and Gibson said the response was almost complete.

The board of education is expected to meet in the near future, possibly this week, to assign students to all the county's schools.

It appeared likely that the 66 Negroes and three Indians would be assigned to the schools of their choice, since the board's only other choice is to assign all students in the county to the school nearest their homes, regardless of race.

Gibson said that several Negroes who at first indicated they wished to be transferred to previously all-white schools later changed their minds and altered their applications.

The requests for assignment include 33 Negroes to Hoke

High School; 15 Negroes to J. W. McLauchlin Elementary School, and 12 Negroes to Rae-ford Elementary School.

They are the only three previously all-white schools in the county. Actually, McLauchlin School lowered the racial barrier last fall when it accepted a Negro first grader. A white elementary student also was permitted to attend Hawk Eye last fall.

The board of education adopted the "freedom of choice" policy to bring the county into compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964. School units which do not comply with the law are liable to lose federal funds.

Actually, the board pointed out, federal funds have little or nothing to do with it. The board is bound to comply with the law even if it chooses not to accept federal funds.

The "freedom of choice" policy, widely used in North Carolina and other Southern states, has been approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

It is estimated, however, that HEW will be satisfied with the policy for one or two years at best and soon will insist upon total integration.

Is In Band

BOONE- -John McAllister, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. McAllister of Route 1, Raeford, is a member of the Appalachian State Marching Band for the school year of '66-'67.

The marching band functions in close cooperation with the Athletic Association during the football season. Its appearances include pep rallies, half-time shows, parades and several out-of-town performances. Membership is through competitive auditions. The band is directed by Charles Isley and Elmer White.

McAllister is a freshman at the college.

New Teachers Added At All Hoke Schools

The allotment of several new teachers to the Hoke County School system has enabled Supt. W. T. Gibson, Jr. to add an additional English teacher to Hoke High school. The man hired for the job is Horace Samuel Braswell Jr. of Lumberton.

A new librarian has also been signed up for Hoke High. Miss Jane Graham McKay of Laurinburg, will fill the position.

Also employed for Hoke County schools during the past week has been Mrs. Nancy Sue Carroll, of Fayetteville, to teach in the Upchurch Elementary School.

A total of nine extra teachers were assigned by the state department to the various schools in this county. Four will go to the Indian schools, three to the white schools and one to the Negro schools.

Five additional teachers were allotted to the Negro schools, Gibson said, but last year's attendance record caused them to lose four so they actually only gained one. "We are really gaining 13 teachers, but at the same time are losing four," the superintendent explained.

The ninth additional teacher will be hired to serve as librarian for Scurlock, West Hoke and Burlington schools.

This year two special education classes will be taught at Upchurch instead of the usual one. There will be two in the white schools, one at J. W. McLauchlin and one at Rae-ford Elementary.

Two additional classrooms at Hawkeye have been recently started and will be ready for use by September 1, Supt. Gibson noted. Gus Speros is the contractor.

General repairs are taking place at all schools and at the Upchurch the classrooms are being painted. Much of the work is being done by the janitors.

In stating that new books will be arriving by the hundreds, any day now, the superintendent said that this year's rental fee for high school students will be reduced from $6 to $5. As a result of an act of the legislature during the past session, the reduction will be made all over the state.

J. W. Turlington, principal of Raeford Elementary School, who will receive and handle the books prior to school opening will begin work August 10.

The Hoke County Board of Education will not meet on Monday night of next week as scheduled, but on Thursday night instead.

Schools Name Honor Students

The 1965 student rating highest, scholastically, in Hoke High School senior class is Joanne Cameron, Principal D. D. Abernethy has announced.

As valedictorian of the graduating class, Miss Cameron will take the leading student's role in the commencement exercises which will begin May 28. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Cameron.

Susan Neeley is salutatorian. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Neeley.

Marshals who also will play an important part in the end of school exercises are Winborne Howell, Gwen McNeill, Susan Gibson, Richard Neeley and Mack Kooncé.

Mascots chosen by the senior class are Susan McLean, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry McLean, and Neil McNeill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil A. McNeill.

Graduation exercises will begin at all three schools next week.

WHEN WE WERE IN HIGH SCHOOL

November 7, 1963

Officers and members of the student council were installed in an impressive exercise in the school auditorium Wednesday, Nov. 6. Mrs. L. J. Solomon, adviser, installed the officers and members with the assistance of Miss A. M. Elliott, practice teacher from A & T College, who served as Torch Bearer.

H. A. Wilson, principal, West Southern Pines High School, was the installation speaker. He was presented to the student body by G. A. Page, principal.

Music was furnished by the school choir under the direction of Miss. P. E. Croft. Miss Kathleen Graham, a member of the junior class and George Davis, senior, were soloists. A challenge to the officers and student body was given by Mr. Page, our principal.

The Council's theme for this school year is "Excellence Without Excuses; An Essential For Youth Leadership."

Open Letter To Parents

You are cordially invited to attend our chapel program on Tuesday and Thursday, Nov. 12 and 14, at 10:30 a. m.

We, here at Upchurch are celebrating "American Education Week" Nov. 10-17. The theme, "Education Strengthens the Nation."

You are also invited to visit the classrooms and observe the students at work."

The Booster Club met Wednesday, Oct. 30, with Ivey McNair presiding. Plans were discussed for the last football game and for the approaching basketball season. As a major project, basketball buttons are to be sold, and automobile plates representing the Upchurch Eagles.

On Oct. 28, Miss E. J. Mims and Mrs. C. C. McDonald met with the following students to form a Science Club: Eunice-teen McRae , Maxine Walker, Mary Bell Ray, Edmond Burney, Anthony Holmes, Carolyn Page, Willie M. McNair, Delores Peterkin, Zephree Dobbins, Patricia White, Daisy White and Kathleen Graham.

The discussion was primarily concerned with membership qualifications, place of meetings, date and time of meetings, and projects for the year. Projects mentioned were the purification of water through filtration, and the construction of a Chinese water clock. A spring exhibition will be held to display projects.

UPCHURCH

This week, November 1-7, is Children's Book Week. The theme is "Swing Into Books." By way of celebration, the library is having its annual author-title contest to stimulate reading in the library. The name of the winner will be placed on the Book Week contest plaque in the library and will receive a cash prize Awards Day.

In grades 1-3, some elementary children are conducting a Story Hour each day this week. Book Week posters are on display in the lobby of the high school and elementary building and in the elementary library.

Library lessons are being given to the ninth grade English classes and grades 4-8 are scheduled in the elementary library weekly. The circulation is very good.

There will be an observance of American Education Week at Upchurch High School from November 8 to November 14. The theme is "Education Pays Dividends."

On Monday, November 8, we will have a student panel discussion on the topic entitled "Education Pays Dividends in Human Relations." Wednesday, November 10, we will have as our speaker the Rev. John N. Glenn, pastor of the Baptist Church of Raeford. This shall be Open House Day. The homeroom having the largest number of parents this day will be guests of the school in the cafeteria. The theme for Friday, November 12, is "Educational Growth in Hoke County Negro Schools" with emphasis on growth and development of Upchurch High School.

The public is cordially invited. All of the above activities will be held at 11:30 in the school's auditorium.

On October 24, some of the members of the Upchurch N. H. A. (New Homemakers of America) chapter attended the District III - IIIA Rally at Tabor City. The theme of the rally was "Education--An Endless Challenge."

Mable Graham, Thomasene Warren and Brenda Martin of the Upchurch High School N.H.A. Chapter were in charge of the devotional service. Some of the highlights of the rally were: An educational skit, report of the national convention, campaign speeches, fashion review, and remarks by Miss A.A. White, assistant state supervisor of home economics.

Schools attending the rally numbered 22; advisors, 26; N. H. A.'ers, 638, and guests, 50. The rally was enjoyed by all. •••••

Last May 22, the chapter of the N. F. A. (New Farmers' of America) met and elected its officers for the school year. Bobby McCormick for president, Eddie McGregor, vice president, Willie Lee Bratcher, secretary, Charles Lide, treasurer, and Charles McCaskill, reporter.

These officers along with 12 committeemen, took the task of running the chapter's affairs on September 1. As of date, we have put up one exhibit at the county fair which won a first place award, attended the state fair in Raleigh, sent our officers to the federation leadership school that was held October 27 in the Ann Chestnut High School of Cumberland County, and conferred the first degree of the N.F.A. on the ninth grade boys. The program of work is up for adoption of the next meetings.

One of our members, Clarence Page, won an award of $5 in the Southern National Bank's essay contest.

Upchurch Is Loser By 14-6

Upchurch High School's Eagles lost their second game in a row Friday night at the hands of Southside High School of Rowland, 14-6.

Southside drew first blood, scoring on a 45-yard pass from quarterback Tom Wilson to halfback Edmond Jones. A run produced two points on the conversion.

Upchurch came back late in the second quarter, driving from the Eagle 35 to the Southside 12 on a combination of running plays and passes. Joshua Brown scooted in from the 12 for the touchdown and after the conversion failed, Southside led, 8-6.

After a scoreless third quarter, in which both teams were outstanding on defense, Southside drove 45 yards to a touchdown to put icing on the cake.

"UPCHURCH HIGH SCHOOL"

The play Purlie Victorious, a three act comedy, will be presented in the Upchurch High School Auditorium on Thursday, April 30, 1964 at 7:00 P.M.

The play will be dramatized by the Fayetteville State College Drama Guild.

Purlie Victorious is a play by a Negro playwright that gives both whites and Negroes the equality treatment --by teasing them both. A fresh and unique comedy. See a romp through the cotton patch with a preacher who tries to woo a girl and win a church at the same time."

UPCHURCH

Upchurch's band has performed well this year, and has consequently represented its school magnificently.

The spurt of honors was begun by the majorettes, who won high honors in the State Majorette Clinic and Twirling Contest in St. Pauls. Incidentally, the girls were honorably recognized in both the team and the singles division.

On Thursday, April 29, Upchurch's was one of the bands that participated in the state festival which convened at Fayetteville State College. This festival attracted bands from all over the state. At this competitive affair the Eagle band received A rating of "Excellent" on their rendition of Rachmanoff's "Glory and Honor." Judging the performance were Dr. F. L. Gatlin, director of the band at Virginia State College; and L. Falcone, director of the band at Michigan State University.

On Saturday, May 15, representatives from this outstanding band of Upchurch will attend the State Marching Band Clinic for Directors and Students. George Cavender, assistant conductor of bands at the University of Michigan, is chairman of the Clinic.

As the culminating event of the year (although it will be shown after school closes) the band will appear in concert, Sunday, June 27, at 1:30 p.m. on WRAL Television (Channel 5).

CHOIR NEWS

On Friday, April 30, the Upchurch High School Choir, composed of 35 voices, made a trip to Durham.

The purpose of the trip was to sing in the annual State High School Choir Festival, which was held on the North Carolina State College campus.

WEST HOKE

The grammar grades of West Hoke school recently attended the elementary school track meet in Fayetteville. This school's participants who won blue ribbons were Rena McAllister, Alice J. Campbell, Ruby McNeill, Carolyn Leggett, Charles Chandler and Weldon McKenzie.

The over-all prize was second place for pupils here at this school for participating in the track meet. We are thankful to the parents for helping us to take part.

Recently, the eighth grade class held its "Night To Remember" with an atmosphere of happiness and joy. Many pupils have expressed how satisfied they were with their final affair for this school year. The eighth grade graduation exercises will be held May 26, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium with the guest speaker, Mr. Thomas J. Gavin, former instructor at Upchurch High School and now employed at Fayetteville State College in Fayetteville.

As we come to another close of the school year, we ask all parents to keep good books around your home for your children to read. Help them to feel the need for learning while they are on their summer vacation.

The adult education class will start here at West Hoke School on May 31 at 7 p. m. Parents who have signed up for the class or who are interested should meet with us on the night of May 31 for enrolling and testing. It will help all who wish to gain more education to meet us at this time.

A recreational program will be at this school during the summer from 4:30 p. m. through 6:30 p. m. for all children who like to play and learn new games. There will be games for all who come.

You are asked to send your children to the new program, Operation Headstart which will be held at this school for pre-school children who will be old enough to go to school during the 1965-1966 school year.

With a degree of thankfulness we are forever grateful to all who have cooperated with our school program during this year and ask that you continue to work with us in the future.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their many expressions of kindness and sympathy after the loss of our mother.

Awards Day Scheduled

Awards day will be held June 3 at Upchurch High School. The elementary department will present its program at 9 a. m. and the high school at 10 a. m. Barbara McDonald, elementary department, and Christine Kearns, high school, will give a few highlights concerning awards day.

Tribute will be paid to outstanding students for excellence in various areas of study. Numerous awards will be given for athletic participation.

Eagles Open Friday Night

The Upchurch Eagles, owners of a 5-2 season on the football field last year, should be equally as good or better this year, according to Coach William H. Dixon.

"We have eight starters back, and the two teams which beat us last year aren't on the schedule," Dixon said.

The Eagles open the season here Friday night, going against Smithfield at Armory Park. Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Another big boost was given to the team by the arrival of Howard Smith, a line specialist who will serve as assistant varsity coach. Coach Charles Gibbs also is an assistant.

Captains of the squad are Joshua Brown, a fleet-footed senior (but he's only 16 years old) who plays wingback, and Preston McMillan, 140-pound center, a junior.

Operating out of the T formation, the Eagles will utilize a well-balanced offense. Jeffery McKinnon, senior who played first string last year, is the quarterback. He's a good runner, adequate passer, and a "thinker," according to his coaches.

Other backfield starters include James Davis, 165-pound senior fullback; Billy Artis, a 135-pound scatback who stands only 5-5; co-captain Brown, and freshman Larry Walker, probably the fastest man on the team.

As a certain cigarette commercial declares, "It's what's up front that counts," and the Eagles are strong in the line.

Flanked by a pair of exceptional ends -- Nelson Grace, 6-2, and Ozzie Adams, -- the forward wall is speedy, agile and tough.

Coach Dixon lists Grace, an experienced senior, as probably the best player on the entire team. "He has fine lateral movement, a pair of good hands, and is an exceptional blocker," the coach said.

Johnny Peterkin, a 178-pound junior, is not exceptionally large for a tackle, but at the other tackle post is a player who'd make any coach drool. He's Monroe Burke, a 240-pound senior who plays on both offense and defense, and, according to the coaches, is dying to play fullback.

First string guards are light, Coach Smith says, but make up for the deficiency with speed, maneuverability and hustle. They are Alex Harris, a 150-pound junior, and Nathaniel Thomas, 145-pound senior.

Holding down the center spot is Preston McMillan, co-captain, 5-4, and 140 pounds.

"The conference has been reshuffled," Coach Dixon said, "leaving us six opponents which count in the league standings. We feel like we have a pretty good chance of winning the title."

Eagles Back On Winning Streak

As fans know by now, the high-flying Upchurch Eagles were shot down here last week 45-43 by the Johnson Rams of Laurinburg, but they recovered at Elizabethtown last Friday night to outlast the stubborn Bladen Central Bulldogs 58-49. The Eaglettes turned back the Johnson Ewes 25-15 but (maybe envious of their brothers) failed in their 12th attempt also -- being edged by the Bladen girls 23-21.

The Eagles were hard pressed to outrun the Bulldogs who chased them closely all the way, but good team play and timely shooting kept the Birds a few markers ahead of the yapping canines. In his strongest effort to date, Robert Blue popped in 31 points to gain scoring honors. McRae and Gay aided with 10 each. Peterson had 15 and Smith 14 for the losers. Both teams had keen eyes for the hoops, with Raeford posting a 40.3 field goal percentage and the hosts 34%. Central made 17 of 23 free throws for 73.9% while Upchurch sank 14 of 20 for 70% accuracy. It was a conference tilt and gives the Eagles a 6-1 conference record and a 12-1 overall ledger. It also assures Coach McDowell's charges of another winning season, having only six games remaining.

A scoreless fourth quarter proved fatal for the Eaglettes. Leading 25-15, the local lassies could neither find the range nor control the ball during the next six minutes. The little Duggies kept tugging at the lead and with six seconds left sank the shot that sent the locals sorrowfully to their dressing room. Mary Thomas scored 16 points but had little help from her associates. A lowly percentage of 4 of 14 free throws didn't help either.

Tonight the teams go to Elizabethtown to meet Mineral Springs, and Tuesday night they'll entertain Chestnutt in a conference affair -- a game expected to test the Eagles' strength.

WHEN WE WERE IN HIGH SCHOOL

UPCHURCH

The Upchurch vocational Agricultural department served as host for the U. S. D. A. this Monday and Tuesday, December 14-15.

Roy R. Gordon of Orangeburg, S. C. in the tobacco marketing division of the U. S. D. A. conducted demonstrations with the vocational agricultural classes all day Monday and Tuesday on standard grades of flue-cured tobacco. These demonstrations are given for the purpose of teaching boys to know tobacco according to government specifications.

December 17, 1964

The Dramatic Club presented another of its outstanding plays, "Harvey," Tuesday and Wednesday, December 7 and 8. The play, centered around an invisible 6' 1" rabbit, proved to be a big hit both nights. The play was directed by Mr. L. Madison. Members of the cast were: Clarence Page, Ardis Beathes, Grace McAllister, Christine Kearns, Delores Peterkin, John McRae, Charles Liles, Fenner Smith, Eunestine McRae, Anthony Holmes, and Janice Dockery. An introduction to the play was given by Harvey McKoy and programs were rendered by Mrs. B. Monroe.

Boy And Girl Eagles

Maintain Win Streaks

The Upchurch Eagles posted their 6th and 7th straight wins last week, stopping Shawtown of Lillington 42-32 and throttling Armstrong at Fayetteville 59-34. Both were conference tilts.

Here Tuesday night the Eagles had trouble getting airborne, spotting their foe a 15-12 first-quarter lead. In the second period, however, the Birds threw up a tight defense, holding Lillington to 3 points in the segment while scoring 13 to gain a 25-18 half-time advantage. The teams played evenly in the third stanza, scoring 8 points a piece, but Upchurch had a 9-6 edge in the final frame to wrap up its 8th straight victory. Robert Blue and William McRae shared scoring honors with 12 each.

James Gay aided and abetted with 10.

In the girls affair it was no contest. The Eaglettes shellacked their guests 41-12. Mary Thomas and Dorothy Ray led the assault with 15 and 11 points respectively. Marily Murchison assisted with 9.

At Armstrong Friday night the Eagles recovered from a ragged start and went on to trounce their hosts 59-34. Again the Birds found themselves behind at the end of the first quarter, this time 13-12. Points were sparse in the second frame but Upchurch scored 7 while Armstrong could collect only two free throws, giving the Raeford boys a 19-15 intermission margin. Led by Blue and Gay, the Birds outscored their opponents 40-19 in the second half, hitting 9 for 9 in the third stanza for 100% accuracy from the floor. This enabled the locals to keep their field goal shooting for the season at 50%. Blue popped in 20 markers and Gay had 19. Blue also grabbed off 14 rebounds as Upchurch bettered Armstrong 45-27 in this department.

(See EAGLES, Page 10)

The Eaglettes withstood the pressure of an undefeated Armstrong sextet to record their 6th straight triumph. In a great team effort four lassies hit in double figures to subdue the stubborn Fayetteville crew. Thomas had 15, Ray 13, Murchison and Ross 10 each. Smith of Armstrong won scoring honors, however, with 17.

The Eagles are at home tonight (Thursday) against Shaw of Wagram with tap-off time set for 7:30. And the Elizabethtown Bulldogs will be hosted here by the high-flying Eagles next Tuesday evening.

Boy, Girl Eagles Still Flying High

By W. T. McALLISTER

Extending their victory skein to 11-0, the Upchurch Eagles last week posted wins over Bladen Central of Elizabethtown and Armstrong of Fayetteville by scores of 54-21 and 82-42 respectively. Not to be headed, the Eaglettes beat their counterparts of the same schools 22-13 and 37-25 in that order -- keeping their skirts clean at 10-0.

The Bladen Bulldogs came out snapping, but were not fleet enough afoot to harm the lofty Birds. Using an offense that was geared to a rigid defense, the Eagles went out front 25-10 by the half and floated to a 54-21 conference win. For the first time this season Upchurch had less than a 50% field goal accuracy, hitting 22 of 65 attempts for 32.3%. Robert Blue and Rufus Singletary were the marksmen with 19 and 13 points respectively.

Mary Thomas, with able assistance from alert and aggressive mates, canned 18 points in leading the Eaglettes to a 22-13 victory over the Bladen lassies.

It must have been a different species of Eagles that flew in from Armstrong, as they seemed to have little in common with the local Birds. Off to a flying start, the home five held a 24-11 first quarter lead, stretched it to 46-13 by the half and made their 5th conference triumph look easy. Even with starting center William McRae out with flu, the Eagles completely dominated play as evidenced by their 70 field goal attempts to 44 for Armstrong. Upchurch connected on 36 for a 51.7 mark and the visiting Birds hit 17 of 44 for 38.6 accuracy.

Almost always on the front of a blistering fast break, James Gay popped in 24 points to gain scoring honors. Blue contributed 20 and was superb on defense. Lanky Rufus Singletary sank 15 and harvested 17 rebounds. Roundtree of the losers had 14.

The Eaglettes surrendered decided heights and weight to the visiting Birdies, but utilized maneuverability and pre-set patterns to record their 10th straight win. Agile Mary Thomas tallied 16 points, roving Ross had 10 and Ray tossed in 8.

UPCHURCH HIGH SCHOOL

Our annual P.T.A. program was held February 24 at 8 p.m. in the Upchurch High School auditorium. The program was opened with a song, the scripture, and prayer. This was followed by a brief history of the P.T.A. which was given by Mrs. Annie M. McKinnon.

Guest speaker of the program was M. B. Hayes who is a native of Cumberland County, a graduate of Fayetteville State College, and has received his master's degree at New York University. He is presently serving as principal of West Hoke Elementary School, Hoke County. Married, Mr. Hayes is the father of two children. He has worked with local and state P.T.A. organizations and boy scouts.

The highlights of the speech were centered around the things which contribute most to helping a child develop his potentials to the fullest through wholesome home life, environmental influences, religious beliefs, American social classes and most of all, a formal education.

The evening was concluded with a solo by Vivian McRae and a short pageant, "The Heart of a Little Child," cast by students and parents.

Students who won honors in the All-District Band are Willie McKinnon, Anthony Holmes, Wesley McPhatter, Cecil Davis, Kirby Galberth, Patricia Thomas. They appeared in the All-District Band concert that was held at E. E. Smith High School Saturday, February 22. Mr. T. B. Bacote was the director.

The following classes had perfect attendance for several days this school month: Mrs. Raye - 1st, Miss Miles - 1st, Mrs. Lewis - 2nd, Mrs. Page - 3rd, Miss Jenerette - 4th, Mrs. Williams - 5th, Mrs. Carol - 7th, Mrs. McDowell - 7th, Mr. Dixon - 9th, Mrs. Grier - 10th, Miss Gadson - 10th, Miss Mims - 11th, Miss Smith - 12th, Mrs. Solomon - 12th, and Mr. Madison - 12th.

On Friday, February 28 six students from Upchurch High School participated in the annual Southeastern District typing contest held at E. E. Smith Senior High School in Fayetteville. Two divisions were represented by Upchurch: The 1st division, those students having only one semester of typing, and the 3rd division, those students having three or more years of typing.

The participants from Upchurch in the contest were: First division; Elaine Cunningham, Delois Peterkin, and Dorothy McGregor; Second division; Carolyn Page, Daisy White, and Joan Monroe.

Winners were from Artesia High School, Hallsbury in the first division and E. E. Smith High School, Fayetteville, in the Third division.

The North Carolina High School Athletic Conference released the following information: The Eastern 3A and 4A Basketball Playoffs will be held this year at E. E. Smith Senior High School, Fayetteville, North Carolina, March 5, 6, and 7th.

UPCHURCH CINDERMEN -- The track squad of Upchurch High School, shown above with their coach, Alvin Pierce, competed in the 2A conference meet in Fayetteville last week and came off with second place among the 13 schools of the conference. Armstrong High of Fayetteville was first. The Eagles took seven first place in the meet, with a meet record of 1:29.6 being set in the 880 relay by the quartet from Upchurch. Shown with Coach Pierce in the front row is team Captain Willie Morrison, right, and Manager Teddy Flowers. Assistant coach is Iran Hall, not in the picture.

The Rev. Glenn Reminds Seniors About Daniel

The baccalaureate sermon for Hoke County High School Class of 1963 was delivered by The Rev. John M. Glenn, pastor of Raeford's First Baptist Church, on the subject "The Secret of Success" It was based on text in Daniel 1:8, "But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself."

The speaker pointed to the tremendous successes being attained today in almost every area, and that there is a general aspiration to be successful. He pointed out also that there is great opportunity today and that each person must take advantage of opportunity as it comes. Quoting William Shakespere, Rev. Mr. Glenn said:

"There is a tide in the affairs of men Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, all the voyage of life is bound in shallows and in miseries."

"Daniel was a teenager himself when he was taken into Babylonian captivity in the year

612 B. C. from his native Judea. The King of Babylon decreed that the young princes of the Hebrew nation should be indoctrinated into the Chaldean customs and civilization in order to teach others of their Hebrew nation who would be taken in subsequent invasions of Judea.

Daniel requested that he and his three Hebrew friends not be forced to eat the rich meats and strongwines from the king's table, but they be permitted to continue their own plain foods.

At the end of the testing period, the four Hebrew youths were noted to be far more outstanding than others, and even the Chaldean captors. Mr. Glenn posed the question: What was the secret of Daniel's success? The answer to this question was the main part of the message, and was answered with three statements:

First: Keep your body,-- the physical, the material,-- always under control; master yourself, do not permit your body to become your master."

Second: Find the will of God for your life and set your purpose toward that will. The Hebrew youths were superior

"The third secret of success, taken from the lesson of Daniel is: Keep open your lines of communication with God, always be on speaking terms with God. Learn to pray and practice prayer regularly."

J. W. McLauchlin, Betty Upchurch, Janice McInnis, Mildred Toler and Dianne Smith.

Hawk Eye, James Jacobs.
West Hoke, Barbara Hall.

Eagles Lose To Durham

The inability to convert after each of two touchdowns proved to be the margin of defeat for the Upchurch Eagles Friday night, by the Merrick-Moore Tigers of Durham. The home boys were on the short end of a 16-12 final score.

On the second play of the game Upchurch pounced on a Tiger fumble in the latter's territory and went on to score on a 37-yard sprint by James Gay. A conversion attempt was unsuccessful, giving the Eagles a 6-0 lead early in the game. The visitors countered with alternating sweeps around the ends that netted them 52 yards and a touchdown to tie the score. A pass was taken by a lone Tiger in the end zone for two points and an 8-6 Merrick-Moore lead.

Quarterback William McRae and fullback James Peterkin, exhibiting a show of force, led their mates in four plays to the Durham 3, but a fumble gave the Tigers the ball on their 6. Although it did not lead to a Tiger score, this mishap undoubtedly cost the Eagles a score. The visitors moved back to the Birds 15 where the locals made a gallant defensive stand, intercepting a fourth down pass on their 5. With little time remaining in the half, the Eagles attempted to regain the lead with a long pass from the Tiger 30 which, unfortunately, landed in unfriendly hands.

John Campbell returned the second half kick-off 20 yards to the Eagle 30, and again McRae and Peterkin went to work. This time they carried 70 yards in 10 plays to put Upchurch in front 12-8, but again the Birds were unable to convert. Following the kick, the Tigers started play on their 30, but were throttled there by a stiffened Eagle defense.

Following a punt the Eagles took over on their 25. Perhaps somewhat anxious, the locals incurred a succession of penalties that pushed them back to their 2. An attempted punt was partially blocked, popped in the air, and was grabbed in the end zone by a Cat to put the foe in front 14-12. A conversion run made it 16-12 midway the fourth quarter. -- W. T. McALLISTER.

Eagles Trounce Aggies

For First Win Of Year

The Upchurch Eagles, celebrating their Homecoming Friday, scored a touchdown in the first two minutes of play and went on to defeat the Warren County Aggies 38-6 for their first win of the season. A week earlier they had played Riverside of Louisburg to a 6-6 tie at the latter's field.

The visitors received the opening kick, but fumbled on third down at their 20. Upchurch recovered and three plays later William McRae was over for the TD. A 2-point conversion attempt was unsuccessful. The Eagles recovered another Aggie fumble on the latter's 30 and scored a second TD. A 2-point conversion attempt was foiled and the locals led 12-0 as the first period ended.

Starting the second quarter, James Gay took a WC punt on his 37 and raced 63 yards untouched. Unfortunately, the beautiful scoring run was nullified by a penalty which sent the Eagles back to their 30. Six plays later, however, the Birds had advanced to their opponent's 10 from where Gay scooted over for the TD. A conversion kick was no good. Upchurch completed a 50-yard drive for a fourth TD with James Peterkin slipping into the end zone from 5 yards out.

For the fourth straight time the Birds failed to convert, and led 24-0 at half-time.

The half-time intermission, during which Cecil Davis and Teresa Smith were crowned as Miss Homecoming and Miss Upchurch respectively and the Fayetteville Teachers College band rendered music, did not seem to affect the Eagles' momentum.

Putting the ball in play on their 35, the home gridders used only four downs in marching 65 yards with Peterkin again crossing over from the 5. Again the Birds could not convert--taking a 30-0 lead. Apparently relaxing a little, the hosts fumbled on their 20. The guests recovered and quickly took advantage of the miscue by scoring their lone TD just before the third period ended. The final score came when William McRae completed a 70-yard drive by falling over from about 1 foot out. Gay made a good run for the Eagles' only conversion and Upchurch had its first win 38-6.

The Eagles journey to Roxboro tomorrow to meet Person County. Next home game is October 19 against Johnson of Laurinburg.

Upchurch Drama Class Rehearse

The drama class of Upchurch High School will present three-act plays April 28, at 7:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The plays are: "The Lamb in the Window," a drama by Robert Finch; "Battle of the Budget," a comedy by Anne Coulte Martens, and "White Iris," a tragedy by Roberta Shannon.

"The Lamb in the Window" consists of nine characters, six men and three women. They are:

Rev. Edwards, Freddie Douglas.

Mr. Carruthers, a banker, Bobby McCormick.

Mrs. Lathrop, Dorothy Cunningham.

Mr. Ames, of the civic league, Archie Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon, a prosperous farmer and his wife, Charles McNeill and Gennell Purcell.

Mrs. Ruthford, Earnestine McCollum.

Mr. Jackson, of infamous Glaena Street, William Monroe.

Mrs. Haley, the cleaning woman, Christine Kearns.

"The Lamb in the Window" tells the story of a little white church in the green hill where the Rev. Mr. Edwards for 23 years, like a faithful, devoted shepherd, has dedicated his life to the people of the village. His church board becomes dissatisfied and thoughtlessly critical of their leaders efforts.

The characters in the "Battle of the Budget" are:

Mr. Prentiss, who cracks down, Charles McNeill.

Mrs. Prentiss, an innocent bystander, Vera Morris.

Pam, Dorothy Cunningham.

Sally, (Their teenage children) Gennell Purcell.

Corky, William Monroe.

Linda, Shirley Cameron.

Alex, Bobby McCormick.

Mr. Action, Freddie Douglas.

"Battle of the Budget" is the story of three teenagers who are determined to get an increase in their allowance and the battle of the budget is on. Indulgent Dad has finally decided to crack down, and in spite of sweet talk from Pam, clowning from Corky, and tears from Sally, he wins the first skirmish. But his youngsters have just begun to fight! So he wants them to pinch pennies and live like paupers? They proceed to do just that, dressed in ridiculously funny clothes from the rag bag. Mother declares herself an innocent bystander, and refuses to join the fight. But Dad has a little battle strategy of his own, and his tactics are mighty successful. Yes, Dad wins the big battle. Or, does he?

"White Iris" is a tragedy in which Jessamy Doone meets her death. The characters are as follow:

Jessamy Doone, Marcia's sister, Gennell Purcell.

Marcia Doone, Jessamy's sister, Christine Kearns.

Dorcas, the maid, Shirley

Cameron.

Lucy, a friend, Maxine Walker.

Tickets are now on sale. They may be purchased from any member of the drama class or Mrs. Wood.

The plays are under the direction of Miss McKinnon, a student teacher, and Mrs. Wood.

MARSHALLS AND MASCOTS -- Lela McNair and Dorothy Gillespie are marshalls at Upchurch High School. With them are the senior mascots, Arthur Kemp and Jane McPhatter.

Kearns, Patricia Thomas, Clara Daniels, Th Galberth, Charles McNeill, Bobby McCol Monroe. Fourth row, the advisors, Miss Mrs. Bettye Metier, Mrs. Valeria Wood.

Vietnam Victim Buried

March 1966

Hoke County's first victim of the Vietnam War was brought home to rest last Thursday and an estimated 1,000 people paid him their last respects.

Pvt. Jerome McCormick, son of Mrs. Flora McCormick of Raeford and John McCormick of Greensboro, was buried with full military honors in the Silver Grove Baptist Church cemetery.

An Army chaplain presided at the last rites. His words were unheard by several hundred people who could not crowd into the jam-packed church.

Six soldiers bore the flag-draped coffin from the church to the grave, followed by a mourning column of family and friends. At the graveside, the chaplain recited the 23rd Psalm, a guard of honor fired the traditional three volleys, and a distant buglar sounded taps.

McCormick, a graduate of Upchurch High School and a former employe of Pacific Mills here, was killed February 20 in Vietnam, a victim of Viet Cong small arms fire.

He had been in the Army since last summer and only a week before his death had arrived in South Vietnam to serve with the 1st Cavalry Division.

Thursday, his casket was opened after the services and a long line of mourners and friends filed past the bier.

A bone-chilling rain which had fallen all day ceased until after the services. Then the dark clouds rolled across the treetops and it started to rain again.

Hoke Students Slated For Special Tests

The high schools of Hoke County will participate this month in the National Guidance Testing Program, designed to reduce the costs of school testing and increase the usefulness of test results to the school and individual students, Superintendent W. T. Gibson announced.

Schools choose the tests to be given from the School and College Ability Tests and from the Sequential Tests of Educational Progress. Both are published by the Cooperative Test Division of Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

"We will use tests which offer a measure of school ability and application of learning rather than retention of memorized facts," Mrs. Tom Cameron, guidance counselor, said.

Answer sheets are sent to the Educational Testing Service for processing on custom-designed electronic equipment.

This type of testing is new to this county, she said. The tests to be used here will be the School and College Ability Tests based on reading, math, science and social studies.

They will be given to students in the ninth through the eleventh grades in Hoke County High, Hawkeye High and Upchurch High.

WEST HOKE

The grammar grades of West Hoke school recently attended the elementary school track meet in Fayetteville. This school's participants who won blue ribbons were Rena McAllister, Alice J. Campbell, Ruby McNeill, Carolyn Leggett, Charles Chandler and Weldon McKenzie.

The over-all prize was second place for pupils here at this school for participating in the track meet. We are thankful to the parents for helping us to take part.

Recently, the eighth grade class held its "Night To Remember" with an atmosphere of happiness and joy. Many pupils have expressed how satisfied they were with their final affair for this school year. The eighth grade graduation exercises will be held May 26, at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium with the guest speaker, Mr. Thomas J. Gavin, former instructor at Upchurch High School and now employed at Fayetteville State College in Fayetteville.

As we come to another close of the school year, we ask all parents to keep good books around your home for your children to read. Help them to feel the need for learning while they are on their summer vacation.

The adult education class will start here at West Hoke School on May 31 at 7 p. m. Parents who have signed up for the class or who are interested should meet with us on the night of May 31 for enrolling and testing. It will help all who wish to gain more education to meet us at this time.

A recreational program will be at this school during the summer from 4:30 p. m. through 6:30 p. m. for all children who like to play and learn new games. There will be games for all who come.

You are asked to send your children to the new program, Operation Headstart which will be held at this school for pre-school children who will be old enough to go to school during the 1965-1966 school year.

With a degree of thankfulness we are forever grateful to all who have cooperated with our school program during this year and ask that you continue to work with us in the future.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their many expressions of kindness and sympathy after the loss of our mother.

UPCHURCH

Upchurch's band has performed well this year, and has consequently represented its school magnificently.

The spurt of honors was begun by the majorettes, who won high honors in the State Majorette Clinic and Twirling Contest in St. Pauls. Incidentally, the girls were honorably recognized in both the team and the singles division.

On Thursday, April 29, Upchurch's was one of the bands that participated in the state festival which convened at Fayetteville State College. This festival attracted bands from all over the state. At this competitive affair the Eagle band received A rating of "Excellent" on their rendition of Rachmanoff's "Glory and Honor." Judging the performance were Dr. F. L. Gatlin, director of the band at Virginia State College; and L. Falcone, director of the band at Michigan State University.

On Saturday, May 15, representatives from this outstanding band of Upchurch will attend the State Marching Band Clinic for Directors and Students. George Cavender, assistant conductor of bands at the University of Michigan, is chairman of the Clinic.

As the culminating event of the year (although it will be shown after school closes) the band will appear in concert, Sunday, June 27, at 1:30 p.m. on WRAL Television (Channel 5).

CHOIR NEWS

On Friday, April 30, the Upchurch High School Choir, composed of 35 voices, made a trip to Durham.

The purpose of the trip was to sing in the annual State High School Choir Festival, which was held on the North Carolina State College campus.

Eagles Take 2 To Wind Up Season

By W. T. McAllister

Ending regular season play last week, the Upchurch Eagles on Thursday night exploded for a 28-point fourth quarter to trounce the Mineral Springs Bears 60-34, and at Fayetteville Friday night the Birds got a satisting 49-48 win over the Anne Chestnutt Hornets who had beaten the locals four straight over the last two seasons.

The Eaglettes split a pair, losing to the Ellerbe distaffers 26-23 and whipping the Chestnutt lassies 28-15.

Against the Bears the locals got off to a 9-1 first quarter lead, played on even terms in the second stanza, but were outscored 10-5 in the third frame. However, the guests could garner only 6 markers during the Birds' fourth quarter scoring spree. Blue gained scoring honors with 16 points, McRae had 15 and Hollingsworth 12.

The Friday night scrap was a nail-biting thriller in which the lead constantly changed hands throughout, being decided only in the last seconds. The Eagles held a 17-12 first round margin, trailed 29-25 at the half, regained a 36-33 third period edge and hung on tenaciously to eke out the 1-point long awaited victory.

Moving Blue to the backcourt and inserting reserve center Ervin Hollingsworth in the right forward slot proved to be a profitable maneuver for Eagle mentor Wilson McDowell. The husky freshman reaped 21 rebounds and scored 10 points for his night's work and was the Eagle rallying card. Blue led the scoring with 21 and Gay had 10. Upchurch hit only 7 of 21 FT's for 33.3% while the hosts hit 12 of 20 for 60%. The Eagles hit 36.8% from the floor and the Hornets 33.3%.

With a 16-3 record (7-3 Conference) the Eagles meet Armstrong of Fayetteville tonight at 7:30 in the first round of the Eastern 3-A Tournament at E. E. Smith in Fayetteville. The Eaglettes, with a 15-3 record, will exchange their suits for skirts and try to boost the high-flying Birds to a State berth.

'Family Life' Workshop At Upchurch

A two-year professional study by the Scurlock School Faculty on "Family Life," was culminated when a workshop for the Parent - Teacher Association was sponsored on March 11-13.

During the three-night workshop, special emphasis was placed on "Family Budgeting," "Alcoholism," and "Sex Education."

The consultants were: "Budgeting," Dr. C. A. Chick, former faculty member at State Teachers' College, Fayetteville; "Alcoholism," D. A. Williams, State Teachers' College, and "Sex Education," Mrs. Georgia Barbee, State Health Department, Raleigh.

Approximately 185 persons attended the workshop during the three nights.

FIRST GRADUATE-- Mrs. Mary Kemp Thomas of Raeford, center, last week became the "first graduate" of Sandhills Community College when she was presented a North Carolina High School Equivalency Certificate by James M. Dunlap, left, of the N. C. Department of Public Instruction. Dr. Raymond Stone, right president of the college, looks on.

Hoke Mother First Sandhills Graduate

Mrs. Mary Kemp Thomas, 34, of Raeford, last week became the first "graduate" of Sandhills Community College.

Mrs. Thomas, mother of three, was presented a high school equivalency certificate. The presentation was made by James M. Dunlap, supervisor of testing and pupil classification, N. C. Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Raymond Stone, college president, praised Mrs. Thomas for her work in adult education classes, which she began January 12.

"We are proud to have you as the very first graduate of Sandhills Community College," he said.

Also on hand for the ceremony, held in the college's temporary quarters in Southern Pines, were D. L. Furches, director of general adult education, and Mrs. Mary Breeze, lab coordinator.

Mrs. Thomas, wife of James Thomas Jr., attended the adult classes five days a week for four months. The certificate she earned -- number 11,000 -- is equivalent to a high school diploma.

Previously, she had dropped out of school in 1947 after having been promoted to the 11th grade at Upchurch High School.

She said she is extremely proud of her high school certificate, but isn't ready to call it quits.

This fall she will become a member of the first college class at Sandhills and hopes to be among the first students to be graduated from the institution.

Hawk Eye School Hangs Founders' Portraits

Hawk Eye School paid tribute Monday night to two Indian citizens whose combined services to Hoke County schools totals 80 years.

They were Elisha Dial and Rod Locklear, long-time leaders in the fight for better Indian schools who served for 40 years apiece as Hawk Eye School committeemen.

They are recognized as founders of the Indian school, which this year has an enrolment of 643.

The Hawk Eye Parent-Teacher Association Monday night unveiled oil portraits of the two committeemen, both now retired. The portraits were unveiled by their sons, Henry Dial and Rodney Locklear.

Dial and Locklear for many years fought for better schools for the county's Indian citizens and actually organized the Indian school in the southern part of the county. Each "ramrod-ded" efforts to build two separate buildings, in which the school functioned for many years. In the beginning, there was but one teacher in each school, but eventually the buildings gained two teachers apiece.

In 1951, the county erected a single brick building at Hawk Eye, and the growth of the school since that time has been phenomenal, keeping pace with the explosion of Indian population in the county.

Twelve rooms have been added to the facility since 1951 and four more classrooms are now under construction.

Principal speaker at Monday night's PTA meeting was W. T. Gibson Jr., superintendent of Hoke County schools, who defined Dial and Locklear as "two leaders who brought us through a period of change."

Hoke County schools are now on the threshold of further change, Gibson said, and he expressed confidence that the county will adapt itself to the change.

"The sum of all knowledge now doubles every 15 years," Gibson said, "so we are living in a world which constantly changes. We have to adapt to the change, whether or not we want to, or we cannot survive."

More progress has been made since 1950, he said, than in the previous 50,000 years of history -- or even of the several million years the earth has existed.

Gibson was introduced by Earl Oxendine, Hawk Eye principal, following the invocation by the Rev. Wade Locklear. Mrs. Mary Jane Bryant, accompanied by Mrs. Roxanne Deese, sang "How Great Thou Art" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Marshals were Rayburn Maynor, chief, Glenda Sue Oxendine, assistant, Carolyn Rogers and Martha Lee McMillian.

Following the dedication program, a social hour was held in the auditorium.

UPCHURCH

Upchurch's homecoming started off with a "real great" parade Friday, October 16, only to end in the game being postponed.

The parade was led by Mr. G. A. Page, principal of Upchurch, with Miss Homecoming and her attendants following close behind. Some of the other features of the parade were: The famous Upchurch High School Marching Band, Boy Scout troops, floats of various kinds, bicycle riders, majorettes, and high steppers.

There were participants from Upchurch's primary, elementary, and high school departments, Burlington School and West Hoke School. All combined to make the parade a success. Last but not least, the cheerleaders brought the crowd shouting and cheering down to the Raeford Stadium where they stood in the rain waiting for the game to begin. But all the excitement was in vain because Upchurch's opponents, Carver High School of Mount Olive, were unable to make the trip due to their bus breaking down. However, we are expecting just as large a crowd if not larger Friday night, October 30, when the Upchurch Eagles play L. E. Johnson of Laurinburg, N. C. We'll be looking for you then.

The Upchurch High School band has been very active this season and have many more engagements in front of them. They were featured in the Homecoming parade Friday, October 16. They will be participating Wednesday, October 21, for the well-noted Fall Festival in Red Springs. They will also be highlighted in the annual Sanford Christmas parade which will be held in Carthage December 3.

Peace Corps Seeks Farm Skills For India, Pakistan

Being part of The New Farmers of America (NFA) organizations was a major element of the high school experience of Upchurch High School male students

India and Pakistan have asked the Peace Corps for 88 more volunteers trained in agricultural skills, County agent W. S. Young has announced.

Training will begin next September for 30 poultry specialists and 25 dairy husbandmen requested by India and for 22 agricultural extension workers, 6 farm mechanics and 5 vocational agriculture teachers to work in Pakistan, Young said.

The Peace Corps already has 160 volunteers on the job in India and 205 Pakistan. The call for additional workers reflects the need for trained agriculture personnel to help increase food and fiber production in these and many other developing nations, Young pointed out.

The Indian request for more poultry specialists grew out of a pilot program started by four Peace Corps Volunteers who developed a new, cheap feed from easily accessible local materials, upgraded the stock, wrote a handbook on poultry management in the Punjabi language and streamlined processing and marketing procedures. So successful was their program that the Indian government now plans, with Peace Corps help, to launch similar projects in other parts of the nation.

In addition to the poultry projects, Volunteers skilled in dairy husbandry will help Indian farmers improve their methods of breeding, feeding and managing dairy stock and the processing and marketing of dairy products.

In Pakistan, Peace Corps Volunteers will work to improve methods of irrigation, machinery maintenance, marketing, plant protection and soil conservation at the village level. They will be working through experimental stations, workshops and agricultural schools.

The agriculture and rural community action programs in Pakistan are being developed jointly by the Peace Corps, the Future Farmers of America and the New Farmers of America in cooperation with the Pakistani Department of Agriculture and the Cooperative Development Board. The overseas staffs of FFA and NFA will share with the Peace Corps the logistical and technical support required for the work of the Volunteers, the agent was advised.

The great need for Volunteers to work in agricultural projects such as those planned for India and Pakistan was summarized recently by a young Peace Corpsman working in South Asia, who described the challenge of his assignment this way:

"People who live on a handful of rice a day, who cannot read or write and have never seen or heard of modern conveniences--how can we help them? By improving farm methods to support twice this number of people. Because it can be done, it must be done.

There are endless improvements that can be made. We are struggling for perfection--they are struggling to live. They need more masons, more agriculturalists, more youth workers, primary and secondary teachers, mechanics, electricians, technicians of every kind. These must not come in a high-level capacity, but must be down-to-earth, hard-working and patient. Above all, those who come must be able to love a people because they are people and to help them because they need help."

Applications and information on these and other projects may be obtained from County Agent Young in his office at the County Office Building or by writing to Jim Gibson, Division of Agricultural Affairs, Washington 25, D. C.

OPERATION HEADSTART

Upchurch High School Provides the Classroom Space

The federal government has allotted $62,828 for child development in Hoke County.

Called "Operation Headstart" last year, the program is for pre-school children who will be entering the first grade next fall. Some 300 such students from economically deprived homes are affected.

The classes will get underway here June 27 and will last for seven weeks. Upchurch High School will provide the classroom space. Lonnie Bledsoe will direct the program, which also comes under Hoke Community Action Program and the Sandhills area development program.

The funds were allotted through the Office of Economic Opportunity which administers President Johnson's "War on Poverty."

Some 60 persons will be employed in the program here, according to Jim Attaway, Hoke CAP director. They will include teachers, teacher aides, lunchroom employees, bus drivers and a custodian. Teachers must be certified; however, the bulk of other employees will come from impoverished families.

This year's grant is about $20,000 more than last year's allotment and provides enough "slack" to increase the pupil load to 400, Attaway said. Last year's classes included 300 students.

Primarily, the program is designed to ease the "social" tensions of impoverished youngsters entering the first grade by giving them pre-school experience in working and playing together.

Five new teachers were added to the program this year, accounting for the most part for the increase from $42,005 in federal funds last year.

ON TRIAL -- Sergeant First Class Roger W. Dixon, administrative supply technician of the local National Guard company, was "tried" for a number of "offenses" Saturday night when the company staged its 18th anniversary banquet here. The "charges" were brought by five of Dixon's former company commanders, shown above. They

Smithfield Plucks Upchurch Eagles, 30 To 6

Next Opponent Is Mt. Olive

Upchurch High School's Eagles were defeated, 30-6, by Johnson County Central of Smithfield in their opening game of the season here Friday night.

The Eagles were at a decided disadvantage, their coaches said, because they were playing their first game of the season and Smithfield was engaging in its third.

A powerful Smithfield backfield rolled up 420 yards rushing and completed five out of seven passes to dominate the statistics as well as the score.

The Eagles compiled 210 yards rushing but failed to connect on four pass attempts.

Friday night, the Eagles will be hosts to Mount Olive High School's Tigers at Armory Park here. Game time is 7:30.

"The first game of the season always produces nervousness and excitement, particularly among new players," said Upchurch Coach William Dixon. "We have that first game under our belt now, and I think we will be more settled and poised in the remaining games on our schedule."

Community Development Group Hard At Work

New officers have been elected and many plans are in the making for another year of work by the Raeford Community Development Council.

This is the council's second year. The first year was such a successful one that the organization was chosen by the Sandhills Area Development Association to receive the annual award for having shown the greatest accomplishments of any town in the area.

The CDC is made up of representatives from each civic group, the churches, the chamber of commerce and interested citizens.

Mrs. Walter Coley, the new director, explained that its purposes are many and long range in scope. They are designed to promote home and community beautification, to encourage the improvement of roads and schools, religious development, to promote farm and home safety, health and physical fitness, to keep Hoke County's young talent in Hoke County, and to help secure more employment opportunities.

"This list surely must include every Raeford and Hoke citizen," Mrs. Coley said. She added that the council and its goals are as big as all the citizens of the town and county make them. "They cannot be accomplished," she said, "in one or even two years, but none will ever be accomplished unless first we are aware of their need, and second, unless we take an active interest in our own improvement, and by this, in Raeford's improvement."

In addition to the Raeford CDC, there are other such organizations in each of the communities in the county. Each has its own program.

What the Raeford council has done:

For two years, it has promoted a clean-up campaign. This year's campaign is also a beautification project which will be continued through the year by various civic clubs.

This year, the council is sponsoring a summer youth program designed especially for the 15-18-year old group.

This program will include party cooking, knitting, needle work, charm and clothing, art, golf, tennis, bridge, flower arranging and gardening, a youth problems forum, and a youth service club.

This meant to supplement the already existing Raeford recreation program and the Presbyterian recreation program. Of course, this is an experiment made possible by the many people who are giving their free time.

It is hoped that the young people will find an individual interest that they can take through life while having lots of fun. There is also a tennis class for those under 15 and if the interest is great enough there will be a knitting class.

There are other programs in the planning process and many more are needed, the director said.

Other Raeford Community Development Council officers are: secretary, Miss Josephine Hall; treasurer, G. A. Page. Serving on the public relations committee are G. A. Page, James Seagroves and Mrs. Furman Clark.

Mrs. Coley expressed appreciation to the Jaycees for their tin can collection project and to the Jaycettes for publicity and various other civic clubs who are now in the process of beautification projects.

"Once again, Raeford can win first place in the SADA town competition if everyone is willing to help," Mrs. Coley said. "The visible results of our efforts will be worth far more than the plaque which hangs in town hall.

School News

WEST HOKE
By Mrs. G.R. Jones

First of all, I wish to say, I am happy and thankful to be back to school after a period of illness, from an accident that happened to me at West Hoke Elementary School April 20, as we were getting ready to have a musical program.

I wish to thank my co-workers, aides and all of the many friends of Hoke County and other places who were so very nice to me in every way.

As we are approaching the closing of the school year, we must first show or express our thanks to God and to our many friends, parents, staff members, pupils and all workers and people connected with West Hoke School for helping to make this year's work a success.

We are proud of everyone and happy over the projects that have been worked on and the work that has been accomplished by everyone. Our hearts at West Hoke Elementary School are filled with gratitude for the wonderful blessings and improvements that have taken place this school year.

As we count our many blessings for this school year, we will make every deed and work throughout the remainder of the school year of 1965 and 1966 an expression of our thanks to God for having had a successful school year.

Again we thank everyone for taking part in all of our closing activities at the school, without you we could have been as successful as we were.

We hope each community chairman and others in each area will continue working in their community during the summer months.

We wish each of you a very pleasant summer vacation.

Boy And Girl Eagles Maintain Win Streaks

The Upchurch Eagles posted their 6th and 7th straight wins last week, stopping Shawtown of Lillington 42-32 and throttling Armstrong at Fayetteville 59-34. Both were conference tilts.

Here Tuesday night the Eagles had trouble getting airborne, spotting their foe a 15-12 first-quarter lead. In the second period, however, the Birds threw up a tight defense, holding Lillington to 3 points in the segment while scoring 13 to gain a 25-18 half-time advantage. The teams played evenly in the third stanza, scoring 8 points a piece, but Upchurch had a 9-6 edge in the final frame to wrap up its 6th straight victory. Robert Blue and William McRae shared scoring honors with 12 each.

James Gay aided and abetted with 10.

In the girls affair it was no contest. The Eaglettes shellacked their guests 41-12. Mary Thomas and Dorothy Ray led the assault with 15 and 11 points respectively. Marily Murchison assisted with 9.

At Armstrong Friday night the Eagles recovered from a ragged start and went on to trounce their hosts 59-34. Again the Birds found themselves behind at the end of the first quarter, this time 13-12. Points were sparse in the second frame but Upchurch scored 7 while Armstrong could collect only two free throws, giving the Raeford boys a 19-15 intermission margin. Led by Blue and Gay, the Birds outscored their opponents 40-19 in the second half, hitting 9 for 9 in the third stanza for 100% accuracy from the floor. This enabled the locals to keep their field goal shooting for the season at 50%. Blue popped in 20 markers and Gay had 19. Blue also grabbed off 14 rebounds as Upchurch bettered Armstrong 45-27 in this department.

(See EAGLES, Page 10)

The Eaglettes withstood the pressure of an undefeated Armstrong sextet to record their 6th straight triumph. In a great team effort four lassies hit in double figures to subdue the stubborn Fayetteville crew. Thomas had 15, Ray 13, Murchison and Ross 10 each. Smith of Armstrong won scoring honors, however, with 17.

The Eagles are at home tonight (Thursday) against Shaw of Wagram with tap-off time set for 7:30. And the Elizabethtown Bulldogs will be hosted here by the high-flying Eagles next Tuesday evening.

McDowell Has Fine Record In Basketball

There are a number of fine coaching records in Raeford and vicinity. Coach Floyd Wilson's football record with the Bucks is outstanding, and McLauchlin building principal Lonnie Bledsoe had an excellent basketball record at Mt. Airy.

Add to the list Upchurch High coach Wilson McDowell, now in his eighth season with the Eagles. McDowell's basketball record with the Eagles is a sparkling 148 wins as against only 39 losses.

This year's Eagle aggregation is ripping right along with seven wins and no losses as of the present moment.

Eagles Play At Greensboro Tonight For State 2-A Title

By W. T. McAllister

The talented Upchurch Eagles left yesterday by bus for the State 2-A Tournament at Greensboro—in the wake of an impressive 66-46 victory over the Red Springs Hornets last week.

The win clinched the Southwestern District 2-A crown for the high-flying Eagles.

The local team smashed four opponents in the process of fighting their way into a berth at the State Tourney. Victim number one was Armstrong High, which succumbed 79-35. The Fayetteville school could not cope with Tim McKoy who dropped in 33 points and garnered the same number of rebounds in only three periods of play.

Another easy mark was St. Paul's, which went down 87-31. Little John Morrison, a sharp-shooting backcourt man, popped for 24 points to take scoring honors. With a 48-11 bulge at half-time, Coach Wilson McDowell cleared his bench to give the regulars some rest and allow his reserves a chance to strut.

Toughest opposition in the District Tourney was provided in the semi-finals last Friday when the Eagles took on Chesnutt High, of Fayetteville, defending conference champs.

Even the Chesnutt Falcons, though, could not handle the hot Upchurch quintet and were defeated by the still-comfortable score of 64-49. Once again, big Tim McKoy led all scorers with 21 points. The 17-year-old junior also picked off 16 rebounds.

The championship finals, against the Hornets on Saturday night at Laurinburg, showed the classy Eagles to best advantage. McKoy hit for 27 points and 19 rebounds, while the team as a whole averaged 40 percent of their shots from the floor.

Behind at halftime by one point, 30-29, the Eagles started the third period with a rush and were off and flying.

The Hornets had a 16-0 record going into the game, while Upchurch is now 21-2 for the season. In the four games of the District Tourney, the Eagles averaged 74 points per game while holding their opponents to an average of 40 points per game. Tim McKoy led the local scorers in tournament play with an average of 26 points for each of the four contests. Guard John Morrison chipped in with a 14-point tournament scoring average

The Eagles received not one but two trophies — the first emblematic of district supremacy, the second for exhibiting the best sportsmanship.

In the State tourney, beginning tonight at A. and T. College in Greensboro, the locals will take on the Person County Training School, which is now 17-0 for the season.

As the Eagles boarded their bus, Coach McDowell said: "We figure we've got a chance. A darned good chance," he added.

Teacher Retiring After 34 Years

Hoke County Teachers Association last week honored Mrs. A. W. Pridgen, retiring supervisor of instruction, who will leave the school system in June after 34 years of service.

Sixteen other teachers who have taught 25 years or more also were honored at the banquet, held Thursday night at Scurlock School.

Kind words from many quarters were heaped upon Mrs. Pridgen, whose service to Hoke County schoolstals 22 years.

"Mrs. Predgen and I worked together for many years," said K. A. MacDonald, retired superintendent of schools. "She worked incessantly and tirelessly."

Mrs. E. T. Hayeswood, who holds a comparable position in Robeson County, said: "She was a faithful steward of her time and talent. She came to Hoke County when facilities were meager ... she worked with what she found. Surely it must make her heart proud to see all the improvements."

Dr. J. W. Seabrook, president of Fayetteville State College, of which Mrs. Pridgen is a graduate, was unable to attend the testimonial dinner, but he said in a letter:

"Mrs. Pridgen is one of the outstanding graduates of Fayetteville State College. One could predict while she was a student that a rewarding career lay ahead of her."

Mrs. Pridgen also was praised by W. T. Gibson Jr., superingendent of schools, who presented a gift on behalf of the association.

Teachers receiving certificates in recognition of their 25 years or more of service included:

Mrs. E. R. Adger, Mrs. R. S. Anders, Mrs. M. V. Bryant, J. H. Chalmers, Mrs. I. B. Cole, Mrs. L. M. Coleman, Mrs. M. A. Dukes, Mrs. A. D. Faucette, Alexander Geddie, Mrs. L. D. Gleaves, Mrs. G. K. Undefeated Birds Take 4th In Row

The Upchurch Eagles posted their fourth straight win Monday night, beating Hayswood at Lumberton 63-51. Friday night, they whipped Shawtown at Lillington 61-51. The Eaglettes won their second and third straight, lashing Lillington 27-9 and routing Lumberton 51-13.

At Lillington, Mary Thomas scored all the points needed for the Eaglettes to down their hapless hosts. She bucketed 17 while Marilyn Murchison assisted with 6 in the one-sided match.

In the boys contest, Upchurch controlled the opening tip and very quickly scored 2 points, but the Lillington crew registered a counter score just as quickly and midway through the first quarter had an edge over the Upchurch cagers. The pace slowed down considerably, however, and when the period ended the Eagles held a slim 12-9 lead. In the second stanza the Birds outscored their opponents 18-13 to gain a 30-22 halftime margin, and widened the gap to 48-34 by the end of the third frame. With some of the regulars getting a rest, the Raeford boys were outscored 17-15 in the final period but the 12-point spread was enough to insure their third straight victory. Rufus Singletary, a lanky six footer, dumped in 19 points for game high honors. William McRae had 15 and James Gay 13. Harrington scored 17 for the losers.

The Upchurch lassies had an easy time with their Lumberton hosts. Again, it was Mary Thomas who led the way. The talented junior pitched in 28 points as the Upchurch sextet upended their lackluster opponents.

In the boys scrape, the setting was different. The Eagles experienced fierce competition from a 2-A team that had posted a 4-0 record. Coach Wilson McDowell, lacking bench strength had to use his starters all the way to overcome the tough Lumberton crew. The Hayswood quintet exhibited a threatening offense throughout, and the strong defensive play of the Eagles appeared to be an important factor in their win.

Overcoming an early game deficit, the Birds eked out a 15-12 first quarter edge, stretched it to 31-20 by half time, and played their hosts on even terms through the second half to capture their fourth win in four games. Leading point maker was McRae, 6-2, 200-pound sophomore center, who canned 22. Blue, Gay and Rufus Singletary had 13, 12, and 10 respectively. The losers had three players to score in double digits.

The game was much closer than the final score indicates, and although it is too early to say, it appears that McDowell may have another good team this season despite the loss of four regulars from last year's team whose combined scoring average was better than 50 points per game.

It's a big 3-A conference, Dixon said, known only as the "3-A Conference," southeastern division.

Thirty-three men are on the roster, including freshmen and sophomores. Not many boys develop fully before their junior year, Dixon said, because they don't have football in the lower grades.

"The boys who come to Upchurch from West Hoke and the other elementary schools have never touched a football. Ask one of them what position he plays, and he's apt to tell you 'left field.' We don't mind that if the boy has any native ability and is willing to work," Dixon said.

The team is hampered, too, by lack of satisfactory practice facilities. The Eagles scrimmage on the ungrassed, unscrapped, uneven athletic field behind the school. The field is used by all grades, and a building program has taken away a corner.

But that hasn't dampened the spirit of the squad, Coach Dixon says.

"We'll give our best effort in every game for our school and our supporters," he declared.

School Has Sousaphone, But Doesn't Have Band

Every band needs a sousaphone, but that isn't the problem at Upchurch High School.

It has a sousaphone that needs a band. Several years ago, the school raised some $2,500 for band uniforms and for a while fielded an excellent band. Then, interest began to wane.

In the meantime, the PTA bought the sousaphone-- a large circular tuba and biggest instrument in most bands. It cost $750.

The PTA paid $400 of that amount, leaving a balance of $350. Now, its members are asked to kick in another $1 apiece to get the instrument out of hock, as it were.

"People want to know what happened to the Upchurch band," said Principal G. A. Page. "It takes money to operate a band, and the band members don't have it."

Friday night, the "band" turned out for the Upchurch-Mt. Olive football game here.

It consisted of two drummers and a bevy of junior majorettes.
